PRESS RELEASE

“Behind the dust of the Western Frontier Emerges Black Faces; Creative and forceful men, women, and children that have seldom been portrayed in the movies, on television and even more astonishing, in the textbooks of American history”.

“Hold onto your hats and dust off your boots San Diego Area, as the Bill Pickett Invitation Rodeo returns to the San Diego County Fair!”

The Bill Pickett Invitational Rodeo (the nations only touring Black Rodeo) celebrating its 22nd anniversary returns to the San Diego, CA area Saturday and Sunday, June 17th and 18th, 2006 at 12:00 pm and 4:00 pm.

Motivated by his experience after attending the Cheyenne Frontier Days (the grand daddy of rodeos in Cheyenne, Wyoming), Lu Vason, producer of the Bill Pickett Invitational Rodeo states, “My experience was exciting, but lacked one thing, Black Cowboys and Cowgirls”.

While in Denver, he visited the Black American West Museum of History where he was introduced to the History of Bill Pickett.

Celebrating its 22nd season and hundreds of performances later, Lu Vason, President and Producer of the Rodeo has challenged the false perception of an absentee presence of Black in the development of the West.

The Black Rodeo is a powerful tool in educating people on the Black west experiences and contributions made by African Americans.

“People know the name Will Rogers,” said Vason, “but who they hadn’t heard of was Bill Pickett, and if they had, they didn’t know he was black”. Bill Pickett born in 1870 in Tyler, Texas created “Bull Dogging”, a move in which he rode along side a steer, jumped onto its shoulders and brought the steer down by digging his feet into the ground, and biting the steers lip. The modern day version of the move is called “steer wrestling” and remains an intriguing exhibition throughout rodeo history.

“Bull Dogging” is one of the seven displays of strength and talent in the Bill Pickett Invitational Rodeo. Bareback riding, calf roping, ladies steer undecorating, ladies barrel racing, Jr. barrel racing and the exciting and dangerous bull riding event rounds off the competition.

Touring from March through October each year, the rodeo can be seen in cities, arenas and fairgrounds across the country including Memphis, Atlanta, Los Angeles, Oakland, Bakersfield, Denver, Washington DC, Phoenix and St. Louis.

Why not make this weekend a complete cultural and family experience. Attend the Bill Pickett Invitational Rodeo, Saturday and Sunday – June 17th and June 18th at 12:00 pm. or 4:00pm., at the San Diego County Fair.
